The closing ceremony meeting for the Gwinnett Senior Golden Games was called to order by our president, Sherman Shelby, followed by the pledge of allegiance.

The minutes were read by our secretary, Glory Villavasso, followed by the treasury report which was given by our treasurer, Judy Payne, who reported that we ended the year having a healthy balance of $11,711.50.

Kim Shealy from the Gwinnett Parks and Recreation thanked everyone for their participation in the Bicentennial games activities which took place concurrent with our regular games events. Afterwards, she passed out medals that were left over to all other Games participants who had not received a medal during either of the events that took place.

Our games president acknowledged and extended special thanks and gratitude to all of the sponsors for their generous contributions and support of our 2018 Gwinnett Senior Games.

Afterwards, the invocation was given by Al Stacer. Following the invocation, a delicious lunch prepared by Master's Table Catering Services was served. Following lunch, door prizes were presented by Hank Duren and Charles Crowell which included Walmart gift cards. In addition to door prizes, the beautiful plants which were used for table decorations, and donated by Sarah Care Adult Day Care Center, were given to those individuals having a surprise sticker underneath their placemats.

Sherman ended the afternoon with special closing remarks. He thanked everyone for their participation in the events, and for all who worked the various events to help make this such a successful year!

Sherman, our Games president, then adjourned the meeting and announced that the final meeting for the Games season will occur on Monday, June 18, 2018.
